Gov. Thomas Johnson High School

Visualize 2045 is the federally required long-range transportation plan for the National Capital Region. It will identify all regionally significant transportation investments planned through 2045 plus those not yet funded. And it will provide detailed analysis to help decision-makers and the public “visualize” the future.

The National Capital Region Transportation Planning Board is seeking input from the public regarding seven regionwide initiatives that are highlighted in Visualize 2045, the regional long-range transportation plan. These include:

- Bring Jobs and Housing Closer Together
- Expand Express Highway Network
- Expand Bus Rapid Transit Regionwide
- Improve Walk and Bike Access to Transit
- Move More People on Metrorail
- Complete the National Capital Trail
- Provide More Telecommuting and Other Options for Commuting

We want to know what you envision for the future of the region and how you think these initiatives could make a difference in your daily life. Please join us to Visualize 2045 and beyond!

Light refreshments will be served and activities for children will be provided.

What is Visualize 2045?

- A new kind of long-range transportation plan. Visualize 2045 will show the projects and improvements the region's transportation agencies are planning through 2045—both what they can afford now and what they would build if they had more funding.
- Multimodal solutions for a complex, growing region. The plan will include road, transit, bicycle, and pedestrian improvements, recognizing that no one travel mode will accommodate future population growth and address the region's diverse transportation challenges.
- A tool for visualizing the region's future. The plan will paint a picture of where the region's current planning and funding decisions will get us so that we might better understand the kinds of decisions we need to make today to realize a more desirable transportation future.

Visualize 2045 is being developed by the National Capital Region Transportation Planning Board, the federally designated metropolitan planning organization for metropolitan Washington.
